11.20 Ensuring proper implementation of regulations for your market

Kristina Kjerstad, DG Connect, European Commission, Nikolaus Futter, PSI Alliance

Since the 2013 PSI Directive came into force in 2015, EU Member States have been responsible for ensuring that the Directive is properly implemented and that public authorities adhere to its measures such as charging, redress mechanisms and licencing. We will discuss with the European Commission, who oversees proper implementation, how well the Directive has been implemented across the European Union and give a chance for participants to raise concerns and examples of where it could have been implemented better.

12.20 The European Data Portal, a driver for accessibility, increasing the value of data

Wendy Carrara, European Open Data Portal

The newly established European Data Portal harvests the metadata of Public Sector Information available on public data portals across European countries. Information regarding the provision of data and the benefits of re-using data is also included. Going beyond the harvesting of metadata, we will discuss with Wendy Carrara about how the European Data Portal aims to improve accessibility and increase the value of open data.

13.50 Data Protection's impact on releasing datasets for reuse

Georg Hittmair, Legal and Public Affairs, Compass Verlag. Kristina Kjerstad, DG Connect, European Commission,

Data protection regulations serve an important function, but nevertheless can have an impact on the effective reuse of public data, in particular when personal data is included. This discussion would facilitate the understanding of these regulations better in the context of PSI regulations and also in the context of differing Member State traditions with a view to gaining greater certainty for reusers' operations.
